Lex Mundi Member Firms Help Client Take Payment Solutions to New Heights

Lex Mundi's member firm for Wisconsin made a trans-Atlantic connection to help a client involved in web-based electronic payment and invoice processing. The client had the opportunity to land a deal with a company involved in construction projects in the United Kingdom. The client's desire to take on the new contract was hampered only by the fact it had no experience in U.K. construction law and practices.

To help navigate the legal hurdles, the Wisconsin firm quickly responded by contacting several Lex Mundi member firms with offices in London. They quickly found a match that clicked – a lawyer who was uniquely qualified to help the client modify its systems to accommodate the U.K.-based projects.

Worldwide connections. Local expertise. Meeting client challenges. That's what Lex Mundi members and their clients can rely on to put their deals in the express lane.
