Lex Mundi Member Firms Bring High Ranking Government Officials Together in India

Lex Mundi's member firm for Wisconsin was approached with a unique request by a client wishing to investigate the possibility of building biodiesel manufacturing plants in Asia. The client needed the firm to act as an ambassador to help it begin a dialogue with high ranking government officials in India.

The Wisconsin firm turned to the Lex Mundi member firm for India, who knew where to knock. Using their connections, the Indian member firm was able to facilitate the meetings for the client. Today, the client's plan to establish projects in Asia has advanced to the development stages thanks to the key roles played by the Lex Mundi member firms.

Worldwide connections. Local expertise. Meeting client challenges. That's what Lex Mundi members can rely on to help open doors for their clients.
